Totalitarian Agriculture, Population Growth, Desertification, Resource Wars and Economic Migrations

"The ultimate direct impact of desertification is the complete loss of carrying capacity of an already fragile biome, and the primary indirect effect is the migration of people previously supported by that area. ... Environmental degradation and environmental resource scarcity are of such a magnitude that they can become, if they are not already, an issue of national security (military and non-military) for the United States." -- Understanding International Environmental Security: A Strategic Military Perspective; by Colonel W. Chris King - November 2000; US Army Environmental Policy Institute -- Military Gospel According to Homer Lea

Primitive Technology: Was Agriculture [the source of land degradation] a Good Idea, or an Act of Desperation?

One of the attributes of modern western thought is the firm conviction that whatever it is doing now must be better than what it was doing before - that all change is progress. We are so convinced of this that we assume that if there are other planets with intelligent life, they are trying to get in touch with us using the same technologies that we recognize ourselves. In the book Making Silent Stones Speak, after reviewing the evidence for the evolution of stone tools and technology, Kathy Schick and Nicholas Toth end with the question - why aren't we hearing from other civilized worlds in the universe? They wonder if it is because intelligent life, once it reaches the level of technology that allows it to send messages into outer space, invariably destroys itself. The question unasked is - whether intelligent life can make choices that lead to other, non-destructive technologies either before it self-destructs or after? In looking back over the history of human social evolution, the critical change that seems to have taken us from positive adaptation to self-destructive reaction came with the advent of agriculture. The rest of this piece will take a brief and over simplified look at the development of agriculture, the 'domestication' of various plants and animals and the affect of all this on human health and happiness.

First, let's consider domestication of animals, thought to have occurred around 20,000 years ago with the appearance of dogs within human habitations. .. Recent discoveries, including a dog skeleton of 100,000 years antiquity and not in human context, have suggested a different scenario. Picture a scene in Stone Age Europe. The cave dwelling humans spread from their permanent village to hunt. The hunted learn to avoid the area close to the cave as a danger zone, but the level of avoidance is determined by genetic factors that control the fear response. The animals with the least fear live closest to the danger. Because they tend to interact with each other, the genetic tendency is increased. Coincidentally, the same gene that controls the fear response controls other factors including coloration and breeding cycles. Less fearful animals will breed more often and be more solid colors than the 'normal' animals. Thus reduced fear made these prey species more easily hunted, and in most cases led to their elimination, but in some cases, and it only took one, the members of the hunting community saw value in this close to home population and treated it as insurance against a poor hunt. They knew they could get something on the way home. Over time, this population of hunters and prey formed a relationship in which the hunters began to protect this segment of the hunted until they became isolated from their peers and bred exclusively within - creating the domestic livestock we have today. It may well have been a mutual proposition developing over a long period of time until the two species became dependent on each other for survival. Different animals in different environments and providing different products each went through this process, eventually moving with their human allies into many new places around the world.

The history of plant cultivation followed a different path. Hunter/gatherer societies gradually became so efficient at utilizing the local resources for food that they began to settle in semi-permanent villages. In doing so, they also became more dependent on trade for special materials not found close to home. Food plants were tended where they grew by selective burning and harvesting methods. (This has been documented for California in the book Before the Wilderness.) In some areas, a few plants were grown from imported seeds to eliminate the need to trade for them. In central California it was tobacco, in Peru it was cotton and gourds, all essentially non-food items. The Peruvian gourd growers latter began irrigating these crops, then irrigating their wild food plants, and then latter, irrigating imported corn and potatoes. What led to the change from wild to cultivated food and what were the social and health repercussions? Answers can be found at a site on the Illinois River called Koster (after the local farmer).

The Koster site had been occupied for an extended period, so that archaeologists led by Stuart Streuver, were able to find evidence from early hunter/gatherer times around 7500 BC to full scale farming times at 1200 AD. They found many things, but the most intriguing to me was the discovery that they became settled in permanent villages well before they became farmers, It was also during this time that they appear to have been the healthiest and most culturally stable. Evidence of their diets showed a dependency on a variety of nuts, seeds and tubers as well as fish and game, each seasonally abundant. At the same time, there was limited gardening of specialty crops. Sounds good to me, so what happened? Apparently the good times led to population growth, which led to overuse and decline of the wild foods, which led to using progressively less desirable species, which led to increased gardening and ultimately wholesale farming. Once farmers, their bones show increased stress and poorer nutrition, with decreased life-span and increased warfare. An additional social consequence of agriculture was the consolidation of the political/religious structure.

Hunter/gatherers tend to be egalitarian, with each family or clan in control of themselves, cultivating personal relationships with a variety of spirits/gods to keep everything healthy. Farming led to monocultures with fewer and more powerful gods, a priestly class to bring rain and protect the crops, and eventually god-kings with the divine right to rule, and control irrigation, passed down from above. This is the pattern of the Pharaohs of Egypt and the Great Sun of the Natchez, the leaders of the Inca, Maya and Aztec, and the Louis' of France. We call that progress because those guys got to write the histories.

There were places however where people stayed in the optimized hunter/gatherer mode sometimes called collecting. In most of California food was abundant, yet population seems to have stayed stable in both numbers and life style. Was there some other factor controlling population? Perhaps there was insufficient firewood in the valleys and insufficient farmable land in the hills. Perhaps they developed social customs that reduced the birth rate. Perhaps they would have become farmers in time. Many areas show different combinations of gardening, hunting and gathering depending on their environment, so perhaps farming has always had limited potential. The result however, was that farmers ended up with big families with time on their hands for extended periods when a few could manage the growing crops. This labor force became both the cause of and the resource for empire building in both the construction of monuments and the creation of armies. Thus farm-based empires were able to conquer even the most successful collectors appearing to be more successful, at least in the short run.

In the long run, they have one big problem - crops fail, and they have put all their eggs in one market basket. Crops fail for three basic reasons - drought, soil depletion and bugs. Whole religions were based on controlling water. Conquest temporarily solved soil depletion problems. We're still fighting the bugs. (Hunter/gatherers eat the bugs.) As a result, the Greeks turned the Cedars of Lebanon into goat pasture, and the Romans did the same to North Africa and other parts of the Mediterranean. To overcome this flaw, the Ceasars sent armies to conquer everybody who might be able to send food to Rome.

In looking to the past, it seems clear that groups were most stable when they combined some gardening with collecting for an economy that was varied and adaptable to climatic change. A smallish population which is family or clan based also seems to be the most suitable for long term survival. At present, civilization is carrying on the experiment started by all the failed civilizations before to see if we can keep endlessly finding new resources to replace those we use up. The race is on to find renewable fuels, sustainable agriculture, a defense against disease and a rising population of angry inhabitants. If this current experiment should also fail, perhaps we (if we still exist) can start over and do things on a smaller, more personal scale learning from history (and pre-history). Then we may stop worrying about other civilizations on other planets and why they aren't contacting us and be glad the Society of Primitive Technology preserved knowledge from the past.

Tackle Climate Change or Face Resource Wars:

Lord Ashdown: Refugee crisis is a 'rehearsal' for a vast humanitarian disaster that will soon unfold if we fail to act on global warming. The former leader of one of the UK's main political parties says the world will undergo more resource wars and huge movements of desperate people unless it tackles climate change effectively.

Lord Ashdown, who was leader of Britain's Liberal Democrats for 11 years, describes the present flight of refugees from Syria and other conflict areas as a "rehearsal" for the vast humanitarian disaster he believes will soon unfold. In a recent BBC interview on the Syrian refugee crisis, he said: "This is the beginnings of the future. It's not going to go away. "The numbers we now have of refugees fleeing battle zones are going to be diminished into almost nothing when we see the mass movement of populations caused by global warming."

He said evidence of the impacts of climate change was plain to see: "You need only to fly over some of the areas that are being affected – like the Naga Hills on the border of India and Burma, or vast areas of the Ganges delta – to see clearly what's happening."

Tahmima Anam, a Bangladeshi writer and novelist, says that 50,000 people migrate every month to Dhaka, the capital city, because rising sea levels are making their villages uninhabitable and their arable land impossible to cultivate. In both the UK and the US, military leaders are aware of the growing threat from climate change and expect to be ordered to react to its effects.

Ashdown said: "If governments do not act, then wars over land and resources – which is what the second Iraq war was – will become more common."

As long ago as 2003, a report prepared for the US Department of Defense warned that global climate change is more likely to result in sudden, cataclysmic environmental events than a gradual and manageable rise in average temperatures.

Such events, the report said, could include a substantial increase in global sea levels, intense storms and hurricanes, and continent-wide "dustbowl" effects, which could lead to wars for access to food, water, habitable land and energy supplies. "Violence and disruption stemming from the stresses created by abrupt changes in the climate pose a different type of threat to national security than we are accustomed to today," the report said.

Ashdown foresees a direct and controversial role for military forces in the near future – not simply in fighting these wars, but also in controlling refugee flows. Asked whether he thought the UK's armed forces would be ordered to defend the country's borders, or to stop refugees leaving their countries of origin, or simply to play a humanitarian role, he replied: "All of those." He went on: "The idea of Open Europe is now under threat. We have to discuss how we can manage the future."

Asked what his priorities would be for a government facing mass migration of this sort, Lord Ashdown replied: "Once the crisis is upon you, it's too late to start working out your priorities. "This is about forethought, the need to look ahead. And you can't approach it on a purely British basis. It has to be an international effort consistent with our principles."

ELD Report estimates land degradation - desertification costs world $10 trillion every year, will drive estimated 50 million people to migrate in next 10 years:

ELD: Economics of Land Degradation Initiative report: The Value of Land estimates that land degradation is costing the world as much as $10.6tn every year, equivalent to 17% of global gross domestic product; not only from lost agricultural production and diminished livelihoods, but also from the lost value of ecosystem services formerly provided by the land, including water filtration, erosion prevention, nutrient cycling and the provision of clean air. Arable land that is moderately or severely degraded, results in desertification, which is having a profound effect on migration. The report cites Karmenu Vella, European commissioner for Environment, Maritime Affairs and Fisheries, who says that land degradation and desertification is forcing hundreds of thousands to move from their homes. A study by UNCCD: UN's Convention to Combat Desertification, found that the process may drive an estimated 50 million people from their homes in the next 10 years.

Key Findings: * Land cover changes since year 2000 are responsible for half to 75% of the lost ecosystem services value. * The value of lost ecosystem services due to land degradation averages US $43,400 to $72,000 per square km, some US $870 to $1,450 per person, globally each year. * The percentage of Earth's land stricken by serious drought doubled from the 1970s to the early 2000s. * One third of the world is vulnerable to land degradation; one third of Africa is threatened by desertification. * A future focused on a shift to sustainability will see the greatest increase in ecosystem service values.

Smithsonian: Is a Lack of Water to Blame for the Conflict in Syria?; PNAS: Report: A 2006 drought pushed Syrian farmers to migrate to urban centers, setting the stage for massive uprisings | USDA: SYRIA: Wheat Production in 2008/09 Declines Owing to Season-Long Drought | Marx: Middle East Resource Wars:

The world's earliest documented water war happened 4,500 years ago, when the armies of Lagash and Umma, city-states near the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, battled with spears and chariots after Umma's king drained an irrigation canal leading from the Tigris. "Enannatum, ruler of Lagash, went into battle," reads an account carved into an ancient stone cylinder, and "left behind 60 soldiers [dead] on the bank of the canal."

Water loss documented by the Gravity Recovery and Climate Experiment (GRACE), a pair of satellites operated by NASA and Germany's aerospace center, suggests water-related conflict could be brewing on the riverbank again. GRACE measured groundwater usage between 2003 and 2009 and found that the Tigris-Euphrates Basin—comprising Turkey, Syria, Iraq and western Iran—is losing water faster than any other place in the world except northern India. During those six years, 117 million acre-feet of stored freshwater vanished from the region as a result of dwindling rainfall and poor water management policies. That's equal to all the water in the Dead Sea. GRACE's director, Jay Famiglietti, a hydrologist at the University of California, Irvine, calls the data "alarming."

While the scientists captured dropping water levels, political experts have observed rising tensions. In Iraq, the absence of a strong government since 2003, drought and shrinking aquifers have led to a recent spate of assassinations of irrigation department officials and clashes between rural clans. Some experts say that these local feuds could escalate into full-scale armed conflicts.

In Syria, a devastating drought beginning in 2006 forced many farmers to abandon their fields and migrate to urban centers. There's some evidence that the migration fueled the civil war there, in which 80,000 people have died. "You had a lot of angry, unemployed men helping to trigger a revolution," says Aaron Wolf, a water management expert at Oregon State University, who frequently visits the Middle East.

“The Middle East is facing its worst drought in decades. For three summers, the annual rains have failed to come. Farmland has dried up across the region in Iraq, Syria, southeast Turkey and Lebanon....Experts say the climate warming in the Fertile Crescent, the area of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, is contributing to the water shortage and helping to create a new phenomenon – water refugees....More than 160 villages are abandoned in Syria alone. According to a United Nations report on the drought, 800,000 people have lost their livelihood. Hundreds of thousands left once-fertile land that turned to dust and pitched tents near the big cities, looking for any kind of work.” - Deborah Amos, NPR; 7 January 2010

I perceive the qualitative difference of their ‘fraud’ guilt as being the Judas Goat flavour of their ecologically illiterate flavour aid.”

Whether those who signed up to being Unashamedly Ethical members were deceived by .... deceptive ‘unashamedly ethical’ representations are conscious of UE manipulative deception of them or not; I don’t know. Perhaps UE prefers to pretend to themselves that they are not deceiving their followers; and their followers prefer to pretend that they were not, and are not; being deceived by UE.

I don't think there is any shame in being deceived by another; the process of deception requires at least two participants. One to consciously spin a fake story; and the other to sincerely believe that the fake story is not spin; but sincere. I have been deceived; by a master con-artist; but when I woke up to the painful reality that I had been deceived; I had to confront myself and my deceiver. In my case; I filed fraud charges against him and his co-deceivers with the FBI: Brad Blanton and Radical Honesty fraud. I remember sitting in a Radical Honesty workshop; watching Brad Blanton sobbing his heart out; about how he had never lied to anyone; had lived an honourable life; could die in peace. I thought; wow this man must be sincere about this Radical Honesty stuff. I was very wrong. Brad Blanton could sob and sob until his sobbing filled the Aqua Zarca dam; but if he's 'radical honesty' does not include public in your face recognition of Ecology of Peace Factual Reality and the support for the implementation of an Ecology of Peace international law social contract; then he is not being honest – let alone radically honest - with himself or others.

... Similarly; Unashamedly Ethical officials and their flock believers can sob until they fill the Aqua Zarca dam; but if their 'unashamedly ethical honesty' does not include public in your face recognition of Ecology of Peace Factual Reality; then they are not being honest – let alone unashamedly ethical -- with themselves or others.

Until humans cooperate to implement an Ecology of Peace international law social contract -- replace the 'right to breed and consume with total disregard for ecological carrying capacity limits' of the Masonic War is Peace international law social contract; with clauses requiring all the worlds citizens; from all races, religions and cultures; to procreate and consume below ecological carrying capacity limits; or have their genes removed from the planetary genepool; -- it does not matter how many trillions of dollars, yen, rubles, pounds, deutschmarks philanthropists invest into 'social' or 'human' capital or 'sustainable development' etc; how many 'human rights' non-profits philanthropists fund to ease their resource thieving guilty consciences; how many charity function fundraising balls alienated rich assholes hold; how many Nobel Peace Prize's two faced coward lily white guilt liberals hand out; how many people religious fundamentalists convert to Jesus, Allah, Mother Mary; Buddha, Satan, Lucifer; etc; how many poor left or right, white or black, chink or latino wing 'civil rights'; 'environmentalist'; 'free speech'; 'black power'; 'white power'; 'chink power'; 'kike power'; etc activists protest and go to jail as political prisoners to grow themselves a – look at me; I am a sadomasochist self righteous moral supremacist f**k honour ethics schmuck -- fanclub; they shall not being helping to fundamentally change the socio-economic or psycho-political alienation misery resulting from resource war conflict for anyone; of any race, class, or religion.

Conclusion:

So to repeat: "I was not deceived into believing the 'unashamedly ethical' stuff on Unashamedly Ethical; anymore than I would have believed Donald Trump's 'get rich quick university' or 'make America great again' schemes'; Jacob Zuma's 'perfectly good chicken run' defence. I perceive the qualitative difference of their 'fraud' guilt as being the Judas Goat flavour of their ecologically illiterate flavour aid."

What part of that did you not understand?

If you believed Unashamedly Ethical were sincere and you were fraudulently deceived by them; I suggest you discuss your deception complaint issues with Unashamedly Ethical to their face; to their inbox. If Unashamedly Ethical refuse to resolve your deception issues with you; you can file a complaint with the South African police; who generally accept complaints filed from Masonic War is Peace South African citizens.

Thank you for the response. I am still trying to get some action out of them so don't want to jeopardise this. I was just rather disturbed when I googled this man and found heaps of dissatisfaction from you.

I hope to receive some sort of assistance from them.

Am holding thumbs ☺

Sarah Berrington Smith

Hi Sarah. I received your correspondence. I am sorry I don't engage in secret discussions about anyone. I am happy to discuss my correspondence with Unashamedly Ethical or Keith Matthee with you; but not behind Unashamedly Ethical or Keith Matthee's back.

If or when you decide you have something to say publicly about your complaints with Unashamedly Ethical or Keith Matthee; I shall be happy to engage you; copied to Keith Matthee for his response; and publish our discussion; along with the other Unashamedly Ethical correspondence.

Hi Lara

I see that you have not had any joy with the Ombudsman of Unashamedly Ethical, Mr Keith Matthee. I was reading Keith Matthee response to your emails and I find him extremely rude and very unhelpful. They also ignored my emails and when I emailed them again at the end of the month, Mr Matthee then only emailed the company I was complaining about and when I tried to ask about any previous emails to the company he was so rude to me and refused to answer my question and just shouted over me. I have a feeling this company is not ethical and I believe they have set up this company to deceive the public that its members are ethical, but when a complaint comes from a client of their members I think they protect their members. Reason is that the members pay membership fees and UE do not want to loose this income.

You should complain about them on Hello Peter. I am not saying anything as yet as I really need their assistance as the company that I am complaining about are seriously in breach of their contract with us, yet they continue to ignore me.

So I am waiting in anticipation.

When I received Sarah Berrington-Smith 01 April 2016 9:16 AM Unashamedly ethical - Keith Matthee correspondence.

I drew up a draft response. On 01 April 2016 at 3:17 PM; I sent her an excerpt of the draft response.

I did not complete the draft; before deciding to send her an excerpt of it.

Here is the draft with minor updates; although it is – like FSB & NSA: Summary: Interpretation Forensic Data [PDF] -- not yet completed.

===== Start: Updated Draft of Response to Sarah Berrington Smith =====

Shall South Africa solve its overpopulation and overconsumption problem; orderly and humanely by choosing to implement an Ecology of Peace national social contract; requiring all its citizens to cooperate and reduce their consumption and procreation to ecological carrying capacity limits; or be humanely, orderly and fairly eliminated from the South African genepool; or like Syria did; with a South African civil war; where Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and Bloemfontein look like Homs?

Should we ask for President Putin's help to orderly and humanely legally implement an Ecology of Peace South African social contract; or should we wait until South Africa's civil war; and whomever is then President; can ask President Putin and the Russian Air Force to bomb the hell out of those who refused to non-violently cooperate to implement an Ecology of Peace South African social contract?

RE: How Serious Pentagon, CIA & NSA Generals know anyone is sincere:

If or when you identify the serious American Generals; and/or Russian, NATO, Pakistani, Chinese, Australia etc Generals; – of whom you have such a high opinion – who appointed you as their spokesperson; who want you to act as their Masonic War is Peace 'fuck honour' debate spokesperson.

I suggest you discuss the issue with your family.

New Ecology of Peace rules including communication rules; are clearly outlined here; which I practice in my relating to all; irrespective of race, class or religion.

Masonic War is Peace Rules is a different kettle of fish; depending on the particular racial, class or religious sub-culture and the Masonic Rule of Law state functions will to regulate or ignore the particular sub-cultures practicing of their respective inter sub-cultural rules.

The higher you go up the Masonic food chain where the big boy Generals, Bankers, Judges, CEO's tread, you enter into areas where state police and prosecutorial functions generally ignore the particular sub-cultures Masonic War is Peace rules; whose rules can be similar to Beirut rules: i.e. zones where the state 'rule of law' allegedly applicable to everyone else has collapsed; as can be noted in any collapsed state ruled by overt gangs and their warlords; where as Crowley would say where 'do what thou wilt' rules rule; or some sub-cultural version of that imposed by those capable of the greatest brute force or cruelty to maintain order and obedience to their sub-cultural version of Beirut, or Los Pepes, etc rules.

An example of KGB / FSB playing Beirut rules.

My EoP rules for expressing my opinions – particularly what could be interpreted by them personally or some of their followers; as negative opinions – to any General; or for that matter politician, pope, guru, homeless person, etc; is to express my honest opinions to them; for their attention; to their inbox; or if possible to their face; and secondly: to sincerely give them the opportunity of proving my working hypothesis opinion about them wrong. If so to publicly amend my working hypothesis conclusion and if necessary apologize.

Masonic War is Peace Political Party no rules example can be found in Mexico where it is overt; as opposed to in other duhmockery's where it is covert. In Mexico it is referred to as Plaza 123; a description thereof can be found in: Lord of the Sky: Drug Lord: Amado Carillo Fuentes.

Too busy to read????

If you read: EoP v WiP NWO Negotiations: Comments Correspondence [\[PDF\]](#): 31 Jan 2016; you would have read:

----- Excerpt: EoP v WiP NWO Negotiations: Comm Corr: 31 Jan 2016 -----

“The problem with being too busy to read is that you learn by experience (or by your men’s experience), i.e. the hard way. By reading, you learn through others’ experiences, generally a better way to do business, especially in our line of work where the consequences of incompetence are so final for young men. Thanks to my reading, I have never been caught flat-footed by any situation, never at a loss for how any problem has been addressed (successfully or unsuccessfully) before. It doesn’t give me all the answers, but it lights what is often a dark path ahead.

For all the “4th Generation of War” intellectuals running around today saying that the nature of war has fundamentally changed, the tactics are wholly new, etc, I must respectfully say ... “Not really”: Alex the Great would not be in the least bit perplexed by the enemy that we face right now in Iraq, and our leaders going into this fight do their troops a disservice by not studying (studying, vice just reading) the men who have gone before us.

We have been fighting on this planet for 5000 years and we should take advantage of their experience. “Winging it” and filling body bags as we sort out what works reminds us of the moral dictates and the cost of incompetence in our profession. As commanders and staff officers, we are coaches and sentries for our units: how can we coach anything if we don't know a hell of a lot more than just the [Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures]? What happens when you're on a dynamic battlefield and things are changing faster than higher [Headquarters] can stay abreast? Do you not adapt because you cannot conceptualize faster than the enemy's adaptation? (Darwin has a pretty good theory about the outcome for those who cannot adapt to changing circumstance — in the information age things can change rather abruptly and at warp speed, especially the moral high ground which our regimented thinkers cede far too quickly in our recent fights.) And how can you be a sentinel and not have your unit caught flat-footed if you don't know what the warning signs are — that your unit's preps are not sufficient for the specifics of a tasking that you have not anticipated?

Perhaps if you are in support functions waiting on the warfighters to spell out the specifics of what you are to do, you can avoid the consequences of not reading. Those who must adapt to overcoming an independent enemy's will are not allowed that luxury.

This is not new to the USMC approach to warfighting — Going into Kuwait 12 years ago, I read (and reread) Rommel's Papers (remember "Kampfstaffel"?), Montgomery's book ("Eyes Officers"...), "Grant Takes Command" (need for commanders to get along, "commanders' relationships" being more important than "command relationships"), and some others."

As a result, the enemy has paid when I had the opportunity to go against them, and I believe that many of my young guys lived because I didn't waste their lives because I didn't have the vision in my mind of how to destroy the enemy at least cost to our guys and to the innocents on the battlefields.

– Gen. MadDog Mattis: Too busy to read?

Re: Psychotronic manipulation of Sarah Berrington Smith

Were you psychotronically manipulated by some military intelligence agency to send me your correspondence?

My answer: Yes you were.

What is your answer?

If your answer is yes; what are your answers to the following questions:

- Why are you being psychotronically manipulated to send me a message?
- Which military intelligence agency was it; or if a combination which combination?
- Were your military intelligence agency handlers motivated by Ecology of Peace or Masonic War is Peace problem solving?

Are you being psychotronically manipulated to send a cryptic Kremlin Business Card help to orderly and humanely legally implement an Ecology of Peace South African social contract?

Maybe; maybe not.

EoP response to Terry Bell ‘transformation of social & economic system’:

In your article: A Journalistic Travesty by Independent Media; which exposes the alleged ‘dirty tricks’ campaign against INMSA: Independent News Media South Africa’s owner Dr. Igbal Surve you write:

“I must confess that I am proud to be a member of a particular generation. We are the generation that suffered 90-day detention and exile; who went on, together with comrades such as Thabo and Moeletsi Mbeki, Pallo Jordan, Paul Trewhela Aziz Pahad and Thami Mhlambiso to establish the ANC Youth League in London. Although we have gone our separate ways, we are a generation of various shades of complexion who, for the most part, remain dedicated to the transformation of our social and economic system.”

I am unaware of what you mean by ‘remain dedicated to the transformation of our social and economic system’.

I prefer to give everyone the benefit of the doubt that they are sincere truthseekers unconscious and unaware of the Masonic War is Peace matrix they reside in; before coming to a reasonable probable cause working hypothesis conclusion that they are simply a Masonic War is Peace right wing racial supremacist or left wing moral supremacist Flat Earth guru peddling their particular racial, religious or corporate cannibalism koolaid flavour of Masonic War is Peace bullshit the public relations.

In accordance with my preference to give all the benefit of the doubt that they are sincere socio-economic resource war conflict problem solving truthseekers unconscious and unaware of the Masonic War is Peace matrix they reside in; I share the following Ecology of Peace v Masonic War is Peace negotiations correspondence; for your constructive criticism feedback consideration; should you find any errors of logic, fact or reasoning in any of the stated objective truth facts:

Ecology of Peace culture social and economic transformation:

I am a member of the Ecology of Peace Radical Honoursty culture – EoP Oath [PDF].

Put simply: The Ecology of Peace culture's perspective on the transformation of the Masonic War is Peace culture's social and economic system is as follows: To amend the Masonic War is Peace right to breed and consume with total disregard for ecological carrying capacity limits clauses of the Masonic War is Peace international law social contract; and replace them with strict Ecology of Peace clauses that require all the citizens of all nations, of all races, religions and classes to (a) breed and consume below ecological carrying capacity limits; and (b) relate in accordance with fully informed consenting agreement legal principles; and violator cheaters shall have their genes removed from the planetary genepool.

A more detailed overview can be found in among others: EoP v WiP NWO Neg CC: US Army Reserve Command Ft Bragg NC: Leaders Shrinking Lifeboat Course Activity creates biases awareness; EoP International Criminal Court complaint: EoP PoW's –v– Nobel Committee & Peace Laureates et al [PDF]; which is one of the Ecology of Peace culture's options for implementation – preferably non violent -- of an Ecology of Peace international law social contract. EoP options include Ecology of Peace education ideas for media publications; such as including an EoP and WiP culture Notice to Readers on their newspapers or blogs:

Notice to Reader:

The problems of poverty, unemployment, war, crime, violence, food shortages, food price increases, inflation, police brutality, political instability, loss of civil rights, vanishing species, garbage and pollution, urban sprawl, traffic jams, toxic waste, climate change, racism, sexism, Nazism, Islamism, feminism, Zionism etc; are direct consequences of humans living in accordance to a Masonic War is Peace international law social contract that provides humans the 'right to breed and consume' with total disregard for ecological carrying capacity limits.

Ecology of Peace factual reality: 1. Earth is not flat; 2. Resources are finite; 3. When humans breed or consume above ecological carrying capacity limits, it results in resource conflict; 4. To sustainably protect and conserve natural resources in accordance to local and national carrying capacity limits; and restrict national and international inter-cultural resource war conflict; humans must implement an Ecology of Peace international law social contract that restricts all the worlds citizens to breed and consume below ecological carrying capacity limits.

Re: Terry Bell Writes: Marikana Mining and Industrial Peace:

EoP correspondence submitted to: Cynthia Carroll, CEO Anglo American; CC: Simon Scott, CEO Lonmin Plc; Police Comm.: Riah Phiyega c/o: Minister of Police: N Mthwethwa; Hon. Judge Ian Gordon Farlam, Marikana Commission of Enquiry. Subject: SQSwans: Apartheid preferred small population of self sufficient personally responsible K-Africans; Mine Owners prefer large population of desperate poverty stricken r-Africans.

Excerpt: Tipping Points: Peak NNR Scarcity:

As this scenario unfolds, increasingly large segments of humanity will become aware of the fact that NNRs enable our industrialized way of life, and that ever-increasing NNR scarcity is the fundamental cause underlying our continuously declining economic output (GDP) and societal wellbeing levels, both domestically (US) and, by that time, globally as well. Historically prevalent public attitudes of generosity and forbearance, which were made possible by abundant and cheap NNRs during our epoch of “continuously more and more”, will be displaced by public intolerance:

- * Childbirth will be condemned rather than celebrated;
- * All immigration will be outlawed;
- * Traditionally unquestioned resource uses—from “social entitlements” and universally accessible healthcare, to professional sports and cosmetics—will be considered “unfair” or “wasteful”, and ultimately eliminated; and
- * “Excessive wealth” will be appropriated for “the public good”.

Previously sporadic social unrest and resource wars will degenerate—seemingly instantaneously—into full fledged conflicts among nations, classes, and ultimately individuals for remaining natural resources and real wealth. It will become universally understood that the only way to “stay even” within a continuously contracting operating environment—much less to improve one’s lot—is to take from somebody else. Life will become a “negative sum game” within the “shrinking pie” of “continuously less and less”.

Social institutions will dissolve; law and order will cease to exist; and chaos will fill the void— nations will collapse.

Given that half of the 89 analyzed NNRs are either likely or almost certain to remain scarce permanently at the global level; that no extraterrestrial source NNR imports exists for the world as a whole, and that the global industrialized / industrializing population has increased nearly 5 fold since 1975... ..it is highly likely that the interval between global societal wellbeing “divergence” in 2008 and global societal collapse will be 35 years or less.

Jus Sanguinis: Letter to EU Anti-Apartheid Org's: Could the ANC have won liberation struggle Honourably and Non-violently; by ending their Swart Gevaar Breeding War?:

Prior to declaring a violent liberation struggle; did the ANC at any time launch a non-violent cultural and political campaign to end the African ‘swart gevaar’ breeding-war, to demonstrate their honourable Just War Just Cause Intentions?

EoP Axis: Van Jones [PDF]:

Request for Information / Questions for Van Jones:

Since the advent of European / Jewish Military and Financial World Domination:

Do you know of any Non-European: African, African American, Latino, Muslim etc; or any ‘progressive’ Non-European: African, African American, Latino, Muslim lawyer, religious, philosophic advisor who has advised ‘progressive’ Non-European or European ‘Progressive’ political leaders to personally or legally directly approach European / Jewish Human Factory Farming Slave Master Oppressors; requesting them to engage in a public political and/or legal conversation that has never been had before; a conversation about abolishing the Masonic Left/Right Wing Human Factory Farm; a conversation about cooperating to implement an Ecology of Peace international law social contract; that requires all the worlds citizens to procreate and consume below ecological carrying capacity limits; or be exterminated from the planetary genepool?

I have not been able to find any such historical information about any ‘progressive’ Non-European: African, African American, Latino, Muslim lawyer, religious, philosophic advisor or religious or political leader?

My working hypothesis is that the reason I have not been able to find such a ‘progressive’ Non-European lawyer, religious, philosopher advisor or political leader; is because they all secretly believe that Non-Europeans are – in terms of their procreation capabilities and skills: sexual discipline, responsibility and fully informed consent gender relations restraint – about as sexually ‘superior/inferior’ equal to cockroaches on viagra.

Put differently they secretly believe that the majority of Non-Europeans are incapable of procreation discipline.

Put simply: They think Non-Europeans are inferior beings; are not and never will be ‘equal’ to a European or Asian or Jew; a significant majority of whom are capable of procreation discipline; and who are not remotely threatened by an international law social contract; that would require them to procreate below ecological carrying capacity limits.
